13 South West Museums Partnership programme 2022/23 programme and updates

Victoria Harding, Programme Manager for South West Museum Development, outlined the organisation's support for museums in the region. The presentation highlighted that 44% of the museums in the region are micro museums, with fewer than 10,000 visitors per year and 42% are volunteer run, with both figures lower than national figures.

The presentation also outlined SW Museum Development's direct work with the museum and heritage sector, including distributing a small grants programme. The organisation also provides a Technical Accreditation Service and delivers projects as the beneficiary of grant funding.

It was noted that a new Museum Development Officer had just been recruited for Devon.

The Programme Manager also outlined the following:

- The impact of the Covid-19 pandemic on Devon's museums.
- Investment in East Devon's museums.
- The forthcoming The Great Escape project which would offer opportunities for collaborative working, culminating in an event on Earth Day, 22 April 2023.
- Further information was available in The Annual Review.

It was also noted that Exmouth's museum is not part of the accreditation scheme, however, SWMD support and services can still be accessed in part and re-accreditation is always open to the museum.

The Forum recognised the challenges of re-engaging and encouraging volunteers to return post pandemic.

The Chair thanked Victoria Harding for her presentation and participation.

14 Libraries Unlimited presentation and East Devon

Rae Hoole, Creative Communities Producer for Libraries Unlimited, outlined her role of bringing cultural programming to libraries across Devon. Steve Turner, Head of Commercial, provided an overview of the other aspects of the organisation. The presentation gave an overview of Libraries Unlimited and included the following points:

- An outline of work to date.
- An overview of the coming seasons, with themed seasons for a programme of events.
- The network offer in East Devon.
- Current priorities and the range of services, programmes and events, including support for businesses.
- The importance of libraries as a space for people to keep warm and meet others.

In response to a question regarding the hiring out of library buildings for musicians to rehearse, Steve Turner confirmed that library space was available for hire and welcomed enquiries. Anyone interested was welcome to contact him for information.

Regarding developing initiatives in libraries in East Devon, Rae Hoole advised that there is a pilot for the cultural credit scheme in January in Axminster, Colyton and Seaton libraries. All libraries are different and unique and discussions on programming are welcome to ensure that the best and most appropriate use is made of each library. Investment in buildings and services is ongoing.

With regard to the mobile libraries and planning for net-zero, Steve Turner advised that this has been raised with Devon County Council as to how the service can be re-shaped for the future. There are a number of ways for people to access books in addition to mobile libraries, including e-books and the home delivery service.

A question was raised as to progress with the refurbishment of Axminster library. It was confirmed that a new roof is awaited so that internal improvements can then be made. It was hoped that this work would be undertaken during the current financial year.

It was noted that the EDDC Cultural Strategy includes developing the relationship with Libraries Unlimited and ensuring that new communities such as Cranbrook benefit from a high quality offering.

The Chair thanked Rae Hoole and Steve Turner for attending and for their presentation.

15 Thelma Hulbert Gallery 2022/23 review and 2023/24 forward plan

- Key performance indicators showing that numbers have returned to pre-covid levels.
- Benefits of partnership working.
- There was a waiting list for every event during the summer 2022.
- Eleven new volunteers have joined to work in the Gallery, with 10 new volunteers for the garden.
- The new programme Landscapes in Time will be launched in 2023 with a variety of events and a specific audience engagement plan has been developed for this programme.
- The Young People Inclusivity, Arts and Environment programme 2023-24 has been specifically designed to engage young people and to enable them to access quality culture and creativity where they live. The programme should be launched in March 2023.
- The Gallery is also developing its Business Plan 2023-27 and should hopefully be presented at the Forum by the end of this year.

Cllr Paul Arnott expressed his appreciation for all the cultural activity and engagement with young people which is taking place across East Devon.

16 ACED updates

Anna Fitzgerald provided an update on the Arts and Culture East Devon network which included the following:

- The opening of a new gallery in Exmouth called Sea Dog Art, with further galleries planned for next year.
- All the money generated is going back into the community into events such as children's art classes.
- The Abode of Love on the seafront has been active for about four months as a response to the hate graffiti in that part of Exmouth and most of the participants are not artists.
- A wide variety of people are participating in the Abode of Love for differing reasons.

Cllr Millar congratulated Anna Fitzgerald for her work which was transformative in many ways. Anna advised that the impact was not limited to Exmouth as people were starting to come from further afield.

Ruth Gooding noted that this was a unique method of commissioning art and this work is breaking new ground. It was also noted that the Ocean building is being used by Anna as an exhibition space and it was hoped that this could be developed in the future.

Cllr Elli Pang noted the strong links between art and culture and health and general well-being and expressed hope that this could be developed further in the future.

John Golding advised that good progress has been made with outreach work in East Devon and agreed that there was more to do.

John Astley, Education Champion for the ACED forum, emphasised the need for education and for all types of communication around making art as accessible as possible.

The Chair thanked Anna Fitzgerald for her contribution to the meeting.

Charlie Plowden, Service Lead Countryside and Leisure, provided a summary of progress and action since the Culture Strategy was adopted in July:
