Report in full

- 1.1 The Centre for Governance & Scrutiny (CfGS) has identified the following four principles which underpin effective scrutiny:
- Providing a constructive ‘critical friend’ challenge to the Cabinet as well as outside agencies.
  - Reflect the voice and concerns of the public and its communities.
  - Be led by independent people who take responsibility for their role.
  - Drive improvement in public services.
- 1.2 There are three further components of good scrutiny and good governance which support and reinforce these principles. These are:-
- Accountability – where responsibility for services and decisions is clear and those holding responsibility can and are answerable for success and failure;
  - Transparency – publication of information relating to services and decisions to allow people to hold decision-makers to account;
  - Involvement – whereby a range of stakeholders can play an active role in holding to account and influencing policy.
- 1.3 The relationship between Cabinet and Scrutiny is governed in part by law and in part by the Council’s Constitution. To assist Members of the Council’s Scrutiny Committees, all Members of the Cabinet and Senior Officers who attend before a Scrutiny Committee, a Protocol has been produced at Appendix A to this report. This Protocol provides guidance on the various ways in which Members and Senior Officers are required to interact with the Scrutiny Committees to enable the Authority to carry out an effective Scrutiny function. It also sets out the expectations of Members, Senior Officers and the Committee when carrying out those Scrutiny functions.
- 1.4 Members are invited to consider and recommend any changes to the draft Protocol. Such changes to be taken into account, alongside any changes requested by the Overview Committee, Cabinet Members and taking into account any recommendations from the review by the Centre for Governance & Scrutiny in November 2023. A final draft of the Protocol to be presented to members early in 2024.
